

NEWSY NOTES

No paper will be issued tomorrow—Sunday.

At the meeting of the City Council on Friday afternoon James R. Edwards, the assistant cashier of the Savings Bank, was named treasurer of the Relief Committee. Some subscriptions have already been received, including fifty dollars from J. H. Kinsel, formerly of this city.

A brother of Mrs. Ely, one of the unfortunate victims, arrived Friday night to enquire after Mrs. Ely and her son, who was also killed. The relative came too late as both bodies were interred Friday afternoon.

The remains of Mr. and Mrs. William Peacock, who were killed in the ruins of the Occidental hotel, have been sent south for interment by Mr. Peacock's brother.

The remains of Past Exalted Ruler W. H. Mallory of Stockton Elks' Lodge who was killed in the Occidental hotel, will be sent to Stockton this afternoon. The remains of N. L. Jones, the telephone manager, will also be sent there.

The City Council will meet every afternoon and oftener if necessary.

Nobody, except the military or duly sworn-in peace officers, are allowed within the lines after 6:30 o'clock in the evening from now on.

Mayor Overton received an offer of aid from Mayor Judy of Winters on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. N. L. Jones was not killed as at first reported. She is at Dr. Lain's residence where she is doing nicely.

"Build a bigger and greater Santa Rosa," was the slogan sent out from the Council meeting Friday afternoon.

Yulupa Tribe of Red Men meets at the residence of C. N. Grant, 1023 Third street, Tuesday evening. Important.

Seven of the bodies of the unfortunate victims for whom no private arrangements could be made, were interred in one big grave Friday afternoon, for the present at any rate. The Rev. William Martin officiated. Many kind people sent flowers.

Treasurer Edwards reported this morning subscriptions to the amount of $970.60, including the $800 donation from Captain Rockwell.

Mrs. Dr. Stuart has returned from San Francisco safe.

EDITORIAL.

The one saving feature of the situation is that "we are all in the same boat." As a result of the complete destruction of the city's business interests, no man has any advantage over his neighbor. To put it frankly, we are all broke, and the moment anybody asks us to liquidate "the jig is up." It is only by standing shoulder to shoulder for the rehabilitation of Santa Rosa, and showing our faith in the future and confidence in each other, that the great problem which now confronts this community can possibly be worked out. We will all pay when we can.

Rev. Leander Turney has returned from Portland. No damage there.

The headquarter for relief clothing is in the People's Church, corner of Third and D Streets.

Joe Woods' body was recovered this morning from the ruins of the Donovan building.

The following have been reported safe in San Francisco: Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Wright, Gerault Wright, John Fox, Grace and Harry Colwell, Ben Corbin, Ed Fine and Mabel Carson.

T. T. Overton has tendered the use of his garage to the Fire Department. The building is in fair condition.

The contents of William G. Oldham's safe proved to be uninjured.

Mrs. L. C. Cnopius, believed to have been fatally injured, is improving nicely. Mr. Cnopius is up and around.

The remains of Smith Davidson were recovered this morning from the ruins of the Kinslow building, above C. A. Wright & Co.'s store.

The people of Petaluma boarded the northbound trains at that point last night, and advised no one to come to Santa Rosa except absolutely necessary. The city also placed tents in the parks, and the school children were put to work making sandwiches, etc., with which to feed the refugees that stopped off there.

Funeral of Louis Blum from Germania Hall Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock auspices Hermann Sons.

Kopf & Donovan, doing business First and A st. No advance in price.

HOPE IN SIGHT

San Francisco, April 21—At last the great conflagration that has been sweeping over San Francisco gives evidence of coming under control.

The repair of one of the great water mains last night gave the engines in the residence section a good supply, and soon after the effect began to be felt. But the danger is still great, and the fire is far from being out, even in that portion of town.

The flames are still raging in the vicinity of the docks, having turned and swept backwards from Telegraph Hill. Good work is being done here by the military.

Competent authorities agree that sufficient food is on hand to last two months. Eight well-filled warehouses in the vicinity of Second and Bryant streets still stand and appear to be safe. A number of firebugs and suspicious characters have been shot without ceremony by the guards.

A feature of the parade headed towards Golden Gate park yesterday was James G. Phelan in his automobile. He had all his tangible worldly possessions in his machine beside him. It is reported that he has offered to contribute a million dollars to the relief fund—when he can get it. All the trains leaving San Francisco are crowded with refugees headed for the open country.

The Oakland Elks have arranged a great tent city at Adams Point for the accommodation of those without homes. Strict orders have been issued by Gen. Funston, who is in supreme command, not to allow anyone to enter San Francisco from the Oakland side. Passes from even Gov. Pardee are being turned down in consequence.

The Bankers Meet

A meeting of the presidents and cashiers of the local banks was held on Friday night to discuss the local financial situation. Another meeting will be held Monday night. It can be stated that when the banks arrange to open they will all do so on the same day.

Grave Yard Damaged.

The earthquake wrought devastation among the tombs and monuments in the grave yard. Most of them are down.